Ladies Will Go

The seventy-two ladies who will arrive here next month will go to Haleiwa for a day or two to test the climate and surroundings. It is expected that their time in Honolulu will be so strenuous that a few days' rest will be essential to their health, and HALEIWA IS THE PLACE TO GET IT. Since the place is mosquito proof, the amount of actual comfort has been increased. Take it all in all, there is no place in the Territory as well suited to the demands of the tourist or the resident as this. Manager Bidgood looks to the enjoyment of his individual guests and provides such plans of recreation as they desire. Rooms and rates on application.

ROBINSON'S COURT IS VERY SHY OF JURORS

It looks very much as if the jurors in Judge Robinson's court will have to work overtime this term. Of the twenty-six men drawn, only fourteen are left, the twelve others having been excused for various causes which rendered them ineligible under the Organic Act. Some were truant; one was deaf; some not taxpayers. There were all sorts and varieties of excuses, and when the list was counted up at the end, only twelve men were left. In case like this, the other judges have been in the habit of drawing a special venire for the term to make up the deficiency, but Judge Robinson holds that this is unlawful and whenever it is necessary to get more jurors, a special venire will have to be drawn for each case.

BAR ASSOCIATION TO HELP PROJECT

Lawyers Endorse Plans To Secure Consular Congress

The Bar Association yesterday decided to assist in the project of having a Pan-Pacific Consular Congress held here, but this was done only after considerable discussion, several prominent attorneys holding that although the project was a worthy one, it was a matter with which the Association could not concern itself.

The meeting opened with the reading of a letter acknowledging the receipt of the resolution passed to have all Hawaiian cases before the U. S. Supreme Court at one time.

Governor Carter wrote as follows: January 2, 1907.

Bar Association of Hawaii, Honolulu. Gentlemen: Enclosed you will find statement of a project for the holding of a Consular Convention at Honolulu in 1907.

The committee in charge of this matter desires to secure for Secretary of State Root as wide an expression of opinion as possible, and would be pleased to have you communicate direct with him at an early date, either by a letter signed by the officers of your organization or by the passage of a resolution expressing your sentiments in reference to the plan.

Also, in order to save time, if you approve of the plan, the committee would suggest that you appeal to Congress for a suitable appropriation, by a resolution directed to our Delegate, Honorable J. K. Kahanamoku. Very sincerely yours,

PAN-PACIFIC CONSULAR CONVENTION COMMITTEE.

G. R. CARTER, Chairman.

E. H. PARIS, Secretary.

The chair said he thought it highly proper for the association to comply with the request and to adopt resolutions accordingly.

W. O. Smith said he was heartily in favor of the movement and hoped it could be carried out, but he failed to see wherein the Bar Association, as a body, was concerned. He thought the duties of it were on other lines, and such measures were for action by mercantile bodies.

W. R. Castle took the opposite view and said he believed the request was germane to the duties of the association. Asked for the resolution, the chair replied that he did not think it was his business to prepare resolutions before getting the opinion of the members.

Mr. Anderson then read the following:

PROJECT OF A PAN-PACIFIC CONSULAR CONVENTION.

The joint committee of the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' Association of Honolulu, in conjunction with the Governor, as its chairman, desires to present the following outlines of a proposal for a meeting to be held in Honolulu during the year 1907 of representatives from every American consulate situated at any port tributary to the Pacific Ocean:

PLAN.
The year 1907 is favorable in that it is not a presidential election year. Public attention has been very widely attracted to our external commerce by Secretary Root's remarkable trip of sixteen thousand miles around the whole South American continent and his many public utterances and speeches made since his return, by which he has endeavored to stimulate America's foreign trade.

The dirt has begun to fly on the Panama Canal and that great enterprise has become a certainty. Every manufacturer in the United States thus has his attention called to the possibilities of the trade which is tributary to the Pacific Ocean. Its completion, as Congressman Knight of California has stated, will cause consignments from factories located on the Mississippi river and its tributaries to be sent to ports now unknown to such manufacturers.

Locally, the first steamer has already sailed for Salina Cruz, the Pacific port of the Tehuantepec Railroad, which is only one of a number of instances which we have already seen of the rapid expansion of not only our own commerce, but of that which passes our doors.

PLACE AND TIME.

Geographically, Hawaii is splendidly located for such a convention. Our climate is so equable that such a meeting can be held at any time of the year, and we can no longer doubt the capacity of our city to provide for those who may attend.

OBJECT.

The committee believes that our community will heartily assist, financially and in every other way, and demonstrate a progressive spirit by taking the lead in a matter of this kind, thus illustrating not only to the mainland, but to the world at large, our desire to facilitate and stimulate the commerce of the Pacific, even though it be not directly tributary or beneficial to ourselves.

A Consular Congress would undoubtedly attract the representatives of the large and progressive enterprises on the mainland which desire to reach out for and secure a portion of the great increase in trade which is certain to take place, and the representatives of such firms could save time and expense by meeting at a common point those who are familiar with the true interests of the various markets and points of distribution that border on the Pacific.

The committee believes that the great transportation lines throughout the Pacific would see in this project a means of materially increasing their traffic, and that they would assist by reducing their rates of fare.

The committee believes that it is not only a question affecting commerce, but that a Consular Convention would result in the uplifting and improvement of the consular service. A discussion could be held as to ways of facilitating and increasing commerce that would be a distinct advantage to the whole Union. The interchange of ideas would stimulate those holding consular positions to greater efforts. The practical suggestions that men actually in the service could offer might have weight and bearing on Congress in legislation concerning our consular service. Great industrial leaders have reaped material benefit from the plan introduced by the National Cash Register people in encouraging suggestions from its employees. We believe this idea can be applied with advantage to the consular service of the United States.

The committee believes that if Secretary Root could find it possible to attend the convention in person it would greatly stimulate interest in the matter, and the time and effort necessary to such a trip would be more than repaid by its effect upon the consular service, upon commerce, and upon the international feeling that exists between the great races that border on the Pacific Ocean.

The committee believes that, unless there are unknown serious official objections to the consuls leaving their posts of duty, it will secure the necessary official approval; and if our community takes hold of the matter enthusiastically and the first convention is a success, it may develop a series of annual or biennial Commercial Conventions. And the project is fraught with still greater possibilities, in that it might become an international affair.

The committee further believes that if our various organizations appeal to Secretary Root and secure his approval, and then follow with appeals to Congress, it may be possible to secure an appropriation defraying the transportation expenses of the commercial representatives of our Government.

The committee also believes that the pride of our community in its reputation for hospitality can be depended upon to meet the requirements necessary in entertaining, without cost to them, those who attend the convention. R. W. Breckons moved that it be the sense of the meeting to endorse the project as outlined, that the Delegate be asked to do all in his power to secure appropriations for the delegates and that the matter be brought to the notice of Secretary Root.

Smith again questioned the propriety of the Association taking this matter up. He thought it should stick to legal matters, and not go into things which were outside its scope.

Derby said that Smith was clearly right. The constitution of the Association showed that it should not mix up in outside matters. The project was a very desirable one, but the Association would be stultifying itself by taking it up.

Harrison said that it could do no harm for the Association to take it up. Breckons said that he did not think Smith's objection sound. The consular convention would discuss many things which would be of interest to the Association.

Breckons' motion was then passed unanimously.

Those present were A. G. M. Robertson, Robbins Anderson, W. A. Kinney, B. L. Marx, C. L. Clemons, C. H. Hemmaway, W. W. Thayer, R. D. Mead, W. L. Stanley, H. E. Holmes, W. O. Smith, W. Warren, M. T. Harrison, S. H. Derby, C. F. Peterson, W. R. Castle, R. W. Breckons and W. T. Rawlins.

SUPREME COURT AFFIRMS

The Supreme Court today handed down a decision affirming the ruling of the Circuit Court in the matter of August Dreier vs. John D. Holt Jr., Emma Holt, Robert L. Colburn, Geo. Lucas, trustee; Henry Van Glesen trustee; Chas. Van Glesen, trustee; and Waiwala Agricultural Company, Ltd.

The opinion is written by Justice Hartwell. The action was a bill to foreclose a mortgage by Holt and his wife which purports to include twenty-sevenths of certain lands at Waiwala and Waiwala. The defendants appealed from the decision of the lower court, which latter is affirmed.

Ironing Shirts

Serial Story No. 1

The way in which we iron your shirt bosoms is not as destructive as you may imagine. We simply place the bosom on a soft padded board and press it against a steam-heated ironing plate, holding it there until dry and stiff. This method of ironing, we think you will admit, is even easier on the goods than hand work would be, for there is no rubbing or friction used whatever.

HARTMAN STEAM LAUNDRY is the only laundry in Honolulu with a machine to press shirt bosoms in the manner described above.
